Model portfolios may be used to diversify premium among multiple accounts. An owner may reallocate funds in or out of a model portfolio at the end of each crediting term. Funds allocated to a model portfolio will automatically rebalance on each contract anniversary based on the initial allocation percentages established at issue.
An owner may also elect to manually allocate premium to individual accounts currently offered. These allocations can be used in conjunction with model portfolios or without any allocation to a model portfolio. The sum of total allocations between model portfolios and individual accounts must equal 100%.
